ABOUT

I am a live music and festival photographer specializing in high-impact visual storytelling for artists, festivals, and live event productions - with a twist.

My work focuses on capturing the energy, atmosphere, and identity of live music — from intimate club shows to large multi-stage festivals. I create imagery designed not only to document performances, but to actively support promotion, press coverage, and audience engagement.

With experience in fast-paced, low-light, and high-pressure environments, I understand the demands of live production workflows. Reliability, timing, and consistency are as important as the final image.

I produce fast-to-publish images that can be used immediately by press teams, social media managers, artists, and festival organizers.

STYLE & APPROACH

My visual style is grounded in authenticity, atmosphere, and movement. I aim to capture moments that feel alive - not staged or static - with a strong emphasis on light, composition, and timing.

I adapt quickly to changing stage conditions and work seamlessly alongside production teams to ensure full coverage of key moments.
